

Faith and Practice Through Pentecost

Deuteronomy 16:10-11 (NASB)

"Then you shall celebrate the Feast of Weeks to Yahuwah thy Elohim with a tribute of a freewill offering of your hand, which you shall give just as Yahuwah thy Elohim blesses you; and you shall rejoice before Yahuwah thy Elohim, you and your son and your daughter and your male and female servants and the Levite who is in your town, and the stranger and the orphan and the widow who are in your midst, in the place where Yahuwah thy Elohim chooses to establish His name."

This is an article geared toward the person who is new to the understanding that submitting to our Father's Word includes accepting and living by His Torah or instructions. For the "rookies" the task of beginning to walk His Ways can be a little confusing, and it may take a little time to work your way through all the new information. So, this is designed to give you a start.

Pentecost is one of the seven annual 'appointments' (literally) that the Father set up for His children, summarized in Leviticus 23 (Sabbath being a weekly appointment). Shavuot (shaw-voe-oat or Pentecost) comes on the day after seven complete Sabbaths are counted from the day of Hag HaBikkurim (Day of the First of the First Fruits, the day of the wave sheaf), which is a Sunday (Leviticus 23:16). Shavuot is also known as the Feast of Weeks, and the counting of the Sabbaths is called the counting of the Omer. An omer is a measure of grain, and First Fruits is the beginning of the offering of the barley crop to the Father.

As the verses above show, this is a time of rejoicing (Deuteronomy 16:9-12). Oh no, not another party! I have pointed out before (and will gleefully point out as many times as I think I need to), that it seems every time we turn around, our Father wants us to celebrate, rejoice, party, and just generally kick back and whoop it up. This is another one of those times. According to the Word, it includes everybody - kids, servants, strangers, orphans, widows, even Levites can get down, get funky, and get loose. All of us are to come together in one place, the "place where He puts His name" (Deuteronomy 16:11,16). This is called a 'holy convocation' which in Hebrew is miqra qodesh (mee-kraw ko-desh).

The theological implications of this statement are too involved to delve into here. But this is one of the 'pilgrimage feasts', meaning we have to go to a place that He chooses, and perhaps this could be understood as gathering together in a really large group. For a long time the actual place was understood to be Jerusalem because of the Temple, but now, in my opinion, it just might mean something a teensy bit different. Where is His name now? Has He chosen a different place? If we are a Temple, what does this mean for the feast location? Mt 18:20 For where two or three are gathered together in my name, there am I in the midst of them.

We are not to be at the party empty handed - we are supposed to give a freewill offering (Deuteronomy 16:10, 17). The sacrifices and offerings are listed in Leviticus 23:17-20, and among these are two loaves of bread made with leaven that are brought from the dwellings of each person (verse 17). I suppose this might be called B.Y.O.B. for Bring Your Own Bread. When they make bread for Sabbath (called challah), many Jews will take a small portion of the dough and 'wave' it before the Father, then burn it up. This, I believe, is related to the wave offering of First Fruits. So, the 50th day is a Sabbath, with a miqra qodesh (gathering), a feast with rejoicing, and a freewill offering along with two loaves of bread.

I want you to notice that the 'stranger' is included in this celebration. The word for stranger (ger, pronounced gare) applies to the nations, also known as Gentiles or goyim. This is for those hair-splitting goyim who want to try and prove that the Feast is for Jews only. Even if you want to limit the meaning to 'in the midst of', I think we can all agree that due to the scattering of Israel we can't be any MORE in the midst of them than we are at the present. This is pretty much an all-inclusive statement from our Father nailing down exactly what He means, without leaving any wiggle room at all.

Two important events happened at this Appointed Time, the memory of which is part of the celebration. These two were also somewhat prophetic, but that is more than this short article can accommodate. The first was the giving of the Torah at Mt. Sinai, and the second was the outpouring of the Ruwach in a room full of Amanuwal's disciples at the Temple, after the risen Ha'Mashyach had ascended to the Father. Each of these by themselves would be a tremendous incentive for joy and celebration because of the freedom they represent. However, it is a mistake to see them as separate events, or mutually exclusive of one another.

When the Torah was given at Mt. Sinai, the Ruwach accompanied it (Numbers 11:17-29). And when the Ruwach outpoured on the disciples, the Torah was also present (Acts 2:11 - mighty deeds of Yahuwah is The Word or Torah). Both included flames (Exodus 20:18-19; Psalm 29:7; Acts 7:30) or lightnings (Exodus 19:16, Job 36:29, 37:2-5; Revelation 4:5, 10:3,4), and both had languages associated (trumpeting, voices - Exodus 20:18, Revelation 14:2; thunderings - II Samuel 22:14, John 12:28-29; tongues - Job 26:14, 40:9, Psalm 18:13). The Word of YHWH cannot be separated from the Ruwach of YHWH, any more than Amanuwal (who is the Word made flesh) could ever be separated from Yahuwah of Hosts or even from the Father. They are echad (eh-khod), one or unity.

Many people want to believe that "The Assembly" started with the outpouring at the Temple. But according to Scripture, this is simply not true. The 'congregation', 'assembly' or 'called out ones' (OT Hebrew qahal, pronounced kah-hall, edah, pronounced eh-daw; NT Greek ekklesia, pronounced ek-kles-see-ah), has been in existence ever since the beginning. This group of people is also called the 'remnant'. Membership has always been by Grace through Faith, and there are many members added throughout recorded history, but maybe not as numerous as we could wish for. The point is, there is only one group of people that is Yahuwah's. Some confusion comes from the fact that these words are also used to describe simple gatherings of people for any particular purpose.

Psalm 74:1-2 In verse one, the psalmist identifies 'the sheep of your pasture' which is identical to the word 'congregation' used in verse two (see also Scriptures, such as Psalm 107:32, 149:1).

"O Yahuwah, why have You rejected us forever? Why does Your anger smoke against the sheep of Your pasture? Remember Your congregation (edah), which You have purchased of old, which You have redeemed to be the tribe of Your inheritance; And this Mount Zion, where You have dwelt." (NASB)

Stephen speaks of the 'congregation in the wilderness' referring to the gathering of Israel at Mt. Sinai (Acts 7:38-39, ekklesia). Stephen also calls the Torah 'living oracles'.

"This is the one who was in the congregation (ekklesia) in the wilderness together with the angel who was speaking to him on Mount Sinai, and who was with our fathers; and he received living oracles to pass on to you. Our fathers were unwilling to be obedient to him, but repudiated him and in their hearts turned back to Egypt," (NASB)

Hebrews 2:11-12 says that Amanuwal and the 'ones set apart for Yahuwah are brothers:

"For both He who sanctifies and those who are sanctified are all from one Father; for which reason He is not ashamed to call them brethren, saying, "I will proclaim Your name to My brethren, in the midst of the congregation (ekklesia) I will sing Your praise."" (NASB)

This is a quote from Psalm 22:22, and comparing them both together shows that the Greek word for church (ekklesia) is the same as the Hebrew word for assembly or congregation or 'church' (qahal).

"I will tell of Your name to my brethren; In the midst of the assembly (qahal) I will praise You. You who fear YHWH, praise Him; All you descendants of Jacob, glorify Him, And stand in awe of Him, all you descendants of Israel." (NASB)

Hebrews 4:2 says that the same gathering (assembly, congregation, or church) had the good news preached to them at Mt. Sinai (Ha'Mashyach in the Torah).

"For indeed we have had good news preached to us, just as they also; but the word they heard did not profit them, because it was not united by faith in those who heard." (NASB)

Those who 'persevere' or 'overcome' will be included in the future form of the Kingdom, but those who falter will not. Overcomers produce good fruit, pretenders (or tares) do not. This is referred to in parable form by Amanuwal in Matthew 13. At this time, YHWH has not assigned the task of weeding these people out to anyone (Parable of the Tares, also Matthew 13). So we are not called to determine who is 'in' and who is 'out', but to continue with discipleship using all of our heart, mind or soul, and strength; to exhort and encourage and correct those others who at least profess to be part of this group.

Paul discusses the nature of the olive tree (another name for the Assembly of YHWH) in Romans 11. He says that branches are broken off due to lack of faith, and other branches are grafted in by faith. Why would branches be broken off, unless there was no fruit on them? Therefore we should watch ourselves lest we be found to be without fruit, whether Jew or Gentile. John the Immerser says this is fruit in keeping with repentance (Matthew 3:7-12). This goes back to Genesis 1:11-12, where vegetation bears fruit because of the life YHWH puts in it. The Ruwach will produce fruit in us because of the nature of His Life.

I conclude that redeemed people, known as an assembly, church or body, have existed from the start as part of larger assemblies or congregations of people or nations, some of which are called by the same names. All Israel is not Israel, as Paul says, and there are hints all through the Word as to the reality and makeup of this assembly. From giants of the faith such as Abraham and Sarah, Noah, and Moses, to the humble of station such as Ruth; from queens like Esther to judges such as Samson, Deborah and Gideon; from Rahab the harlot to mighty kings like David and Solomon; the one Father has been adding to one body through one faith by one Ruwach and one immersion (Ephesians 4:4-6).

Shavuot is then, in my opinion, a celebration of freedom (Passover) from captivity (Egypt) and entry into the Assembly of Yahuwah by embracing all of the instructions of the Father. In other words, we left sin and the world system by way of the blood of the Lamb, journeyed into the wilderness where His living oracles (the Torah - Acts 7:38; Romans 3:2; Hebrews 5:12; 1 Peter 4:11) were delivered to us, and by trusting obedience (faith) we will enter into the final form of His Kingdom, also known as His Rest. By refusing to obey His Ways we will fail to enter (Acts 7:39; Hebrews 4:6).

"Therefore, since it remains for some to enter it, and those who formerly had good news preached to them failed to enter because of disobedience, He again fixes a certain day, "Today, saying through David after so long a time just as has been said before, "Today if you hear His voice, Do not harden your hearts". (Hebrews. 4:6-7 NASB, last part quoting Psalm 95:6-11)

May the Father keep our hearts soft and bring us into His rest.
